Mama Wears Two Aprons: Women In Farming And Farm Marketing

Synopsis

Women were not invented until the 1950s. Or so it seems to the archival reader, searching for accounts of early farm women. Primary sources, however, reveal a different picture. At the heart of every successful farm was a woman. In this unique history, Margaret Coleman explores women farmers in Montgomery County, Maryland, from the early days to the present.

Customer Reviews

"Women's essential, but unsung, roles in creating food began in prehistoric times and continue today all over the world. Mama Wears Two Aprons is a very readable book which pays tributes to this virtually ignored women's occupation." -- Margaret Zierdt "2006 winner of the National Women's History Project's Writing Women Back into History Award"
