Pittsburgh Dad: Everything Your Dad Has Said To You

Synopsis

When Pittsburgh Dad debuted on YouTube three years ago, creators Chris Preksta and Curt Wootton little suspected their sitcom would receive more than sixteen million views and turn their blue-collar everyman into a nationally known figure. Illustrated with hilarious black-and-white photos, Pittsburgh Dad shares the best of the best, from rants about swimming pool rules to reflections on coaching little league to curmudgeonly movie reviews. With its heavy dose of nostalgia and pitch-perfect sensibility, Pittsburgh Dad will have readers laughing in recognition, especially those who love recent blockbusters like *Sh*t My Dad Says* and Dad Is Fat.

Chris Preksta is the director and cocreator and Curt Wootton is co-creator and star of the Pittsburgh Dad series. They live in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH DAD CHRIS PREKSTA (director/cocreator) is a film and web series director whose credits include Pittsburgh Dad, the sci-fi series The Mercury Men, which premiered on the NBC Universal/Syfy digital network, and the award-winning online sitcom The Guild. Chris grew up in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. CURT WOOTTON (Pittsburgh Dad/cocreator), a film and stage actor, turned an impression of his actual father into a nationally known character with the introduction of Pittsburgh Dad. His credits also include the online series Captain Blasto and The Mercury Men. Curt grew up in Greensburg, Pennsylvania. Chris and Curt are currently writing and developing Pittsburgh

Dad as a feature film. www.youtube.com/pittsburghdad www.pghdad.com Published by the Penguin Group Penguin Group (USA) LLC 375 Hudson Street New York, New York 10014 USA | Canada | UK | Ireland | Australia | New Zealand | India | South Africa | China penguin.com A Penguin Random House Company First published by Plume, a member of Penguin Group (USA) LLC, 2015 Copyright © 2015 by Christopher Schnur-Preksta and Curt Wootton Penguin supports copyright. PN1992.77.P46P84 2015791.45 ; 72 "dc232014039840" Acknowledgments Thank you to: Curt's girlfriend, Kaitlin, for putting up with being called "Deb." • Chris's wife, Ashley, for her endless support of a nerdy husband. Jane and Catherine, for making Chris an actual Pittsburgh Dad. Linda and Dave Urbaniak, for allowing their actual home to become a TV studio once a week. Randy Baumann, Bill Crawford, and Sally Wiggin, for graciously helping our audience to grow larger than just our families. Nicholas Yon and Turner's Dairy for their consistent partnership. Coach Mike Tomlin and the Pittsburgh Steelers for allowing us to be a part of the family. Editor Becky Cole for guiding two first-time authors. George Ruiz and David Sedelmeier for working to make sure we can both create AND pay our bills. All the fans, for watching and sharing their own memories with us over the years. Without them, you'd be holding a blank book. The city of Pittsburgh, for being the best city on the planet. Introduction "OH MY GOSH, IT'S MY FATHER!" • In October 2011, just to kill some time one afternoon, we decided to film Curt doing an impression of his often-cranky father, complete with his thick Pittsburgh accent (down is pronounced "dahn," house = "hahs," for those of yinz who've never heard it). We grabbed some old glasses from a thrift store and quickly shot a forty-second video on Chris's iPhone: "Did yinz wash your feet off in that little bucket by the pool ladder before yinz got in that pool? I don't want grass clippings clogging up my filter. And no I ain't turning on the air-conditioning, I got fans blowing. Just go get some freeze pops in the cellar." • We added an "All in the Family" style sitcom intro and fake studio laughter to make it appear as if Curt's father was a TV dad from the '70s or '80s. We were just doing it to make our own parents laugh. When we uploaded the video "Meet Pittsburgh Dad" onto

YouTube to share with our families, we expected a total of 50 views. That first day, we had 1,000. Within just a few months, we had more than 1 million views. National news outlets began sharing the episode, and we were flooded with hundreds of messages and comments from around the country all saying similar things: "My dad is EXACTLY like this!" "It's scary how accurate this is." "It's as if you secretly recorded my family growing up!" "It seemed like everybody's parents said the same things to them when they were growing up. Was there some class that taught all dads to yell about not pressing your face against the screen door? Do you automatically start guarding the thermostat the moment you become a parent? At what age do we suddenly start regulating how much milk is poured into a cereal bowl? Over the past three years, that single video has led to more than 100 additional episodes capturing the nostalgia, funny phrases, and frustrations of growing up in a blue-collar, middle-class home—coming home when the street lights go on, catching lightning bugs, and not being allowed to play in the "good" living room. What you're holding is a collection of our favorite jokes and stories written for the show, collected from our personal experiences and memories of growing up. But you'll swear it was your own dad speaking. And if you picked up this book wondering what the hell it is, or why you should care about some dad from Pittsburgh, you can see the show for yourself at www.youtube.com/pittsburghdad. Millions of views later, we still film on Chris's iPhone. We hope yinz enjoy it!

EATING FAMILY DINNER The food tastes the same in all the chairs. Wash your hands and sit the hell down! Can you have a Happy Meal?! You should just be happy you're even getting this meal. Can we eat dinner at IKEA tonight?! Why don't we grab hors d'oeuvres down at Roomful Express while we're at it? What's city chicken?! It's pork. If you don't like it, just close your eyes and pretend it's chicken nuggets. Jessica, I rinsed the apple off. It's clean, for crying out loud. You won't eat fruit until we soak it in Purell and run it through the dishwasher. Take that wrapped Arby's sandwich outta the microwave before you blow up my house! Hey, what's the number-one rule in the house? "Always use a Chip Clip." "Quit eating all the Little Debbie snacks! Those are for your lunches. No, I don't want no craft beer. I don't even like their mac and cheese."

PICKY EATERS You have to eat it 'cause there's kids starving in China. Send it to them, then?! How's about we just send you, instead? You're a vegetarian? Since when did Cinnamon Toast Crunch become a vegetable? No, this ain't like eating in a prison. They complain less there. Quit feeding the animals under the table. That dog eats better than some families I know. Hey, Mum, stop throwing all that leftover bread to them filthy birds. It's starting to look like a damn Hitchcock movie out there. Can we make you something else?! Sorry you ain't happy with tonight's selection at Mom's Diner. Let's see what else we have on the menu. Oh look, a hot plate of nothing with a delicious side of grounded. Whaddya mean Dr. Oz says we should use sea salt instead? Since when are we taking health advice from a wizard? Is Dr. Oz gonna pay our grocery bill? Them rumors about Mountain Dew ain't true! I used to drink it all the time and here are you three goofs complaining. GOING SHOPPING I found this Sopranos DVD box set in the five-dollar bin, so all I'm paying is five dollars. If it got in there by mistake, that sounds like a Walmart problem. Wait in line for hours to see the "Cake Boss"?! Yeah, Deb, I'd love to explain that to my real boss. Nah, Mum will have to take yinz shopping down that Hollister's. You need a lantern and a map to shop at that place. Yeah, Mum bought yinz book covers. They're in the kitchen and say Giant Eagle on them. You have a dime. Quit asking the penny-candy lady about your Swedish Fish and Flying Saucer options like you're buying a new SUV. Where's Gram? Over there talking to the self-checkout machine. No, we ain't buying yinz Lunchables. There's bread and chipped ham in the fridge. I don't care if only the ends are left, them are just as good. And quit eating all the Pepperidge Farm cookies. Those are adult cookies. GIVING RIDES TO THE MOVIES No, I ain't ridin' yinz to the movies. It's raining, it's slippery out there. We are in for the night. And don't bother asking Mum, 'cause she has night blindness. She'll end up over an embankment 'cause yinz had to see Gravity? She's gonna feel gravity when that car rolls down a hill.

Collection of sayings from Pittsburgh Dad. If you have watched the YouTube videos, you would know everything in this book. More of a supplement rather than a "must read".

My husband loves this guys you tube channel. So, I got him this book. He has throughly enjoyed it!

Such a fantastic book! I've read it once, then started at the beginning again! Reminds me so much of home (SouthWest Pa.) and everything my parents ever said to me. Now, quit Jaggin around and get your butt in gear, that trash ain't gonna take it self out you know!!

Makes a great gift item! Funny and perfect for any Pittsburgh lover

Read for a good laugh!

As a native Pennsylvanian, it was a quick fun read. Reminds me a lot of how I grew up

A lot of fun to read if you are a fan of Pittsburgh Dad's YouTube videos.

Best book ever written!!!! Nothing more to say. Buy it. Did you buy it yet???? Funny as well, will have you LoL
