Urban Farming: Sustainable City Living In Your Backyard, In Your Community, And In The World

Synopsis

It doesn't take a farm to have the heart of a farmer. Now, due to a burgeoning sustainable-living movement, you don't have to own acreage to fulfill your dream of raising your own food. Hobby Farms Urban Farming, from Hobby Farm Press and the same people who bring you Hobby Farms and Hobby Farm Home magazine, will walk every city and suburban dweller down the path of self sustainability. Urban Farming will introduce readers to the concepts of gardening and farming from a high-rise apartment, participating in a community garden, vertical farming, and converting terraces and other small city spaces into fruitful, vegetableful real estate. This comprehensive volume will answer every up and coming urban farmer's questions about how, what, where and why; a new green book for the dedicated citizen seeking to reduce his carbon footprint and grocery bill.

Customer Reviews

This book is very, VERY complete. From history to gardening recommendations for specific vegetables. Strongly recommended for people interested in growing their own food inside the city or even as a small business

We purchased this book at the recommendation of a friend. It is a great overview of Urban Farming, along with some extra detail on specific topics. If you are well versed at vegetable gardening and have a small orchard or animals, it is not as useful as it could be. Perfect for someone just starting out. If in doubt, check it out at the library first.

This book in simple layman terms describes everything anybody needs to start a small or very large garden! A child very easily can follow the words/terms in understanding this publication! I look forward to meeting the author and letting him know about my results and helpful wisdom! Thank You Very Much!

Great information for those that want to start container gardening provides great information for the home gardener.

Item as described

New at this so any creative ideas to get my own seeds started are much appreciated. Thanks so much. New Gardener!
