Julie Collins and Tina Parkes are Master Florists who run the Academy of Floral Art, a unique school offering both professional and recreational floristry courses and workshops in London, Bristol and Exeter. They have trained 14 new Master Florists (the top British qualification in floristry) in the last two years, representing 40% of the UK's total number of Master Florists. A quarter of the floristry entries to Chelsea in 2012 were former Academy students and all six won medals.

Bueno

Lovely flower arrangements, great ideas but I didn't find the instructions really easy to follow. Probably this is a book oriented to a different audience and not to a general one.

Modern and quirky - some of the arrangements are Ikebana inspired. Some nice ideas so it is worth having as part of a library of floral art books

This book is full of unique floral design techniques that I have never seen before. It is very helpful and worth the cost.

I'm sure I didn't like this book because it was filled with flower arrangements that didn't suit my taste. I had just finished reading the book by Michael Howard and it ruined any desire to read another, and yet I did. Sorry Updated designs that a novice can do with a little practice. Give your special occasion flair with arrangements that are not the same staid designs you see at the grocery.

I love the recipes and easy to follow directions. The designs featured were not your ordinary designs but unique and creative.
