Customer Reviews

Award-winning designer Lisa M. Cini is the founder and CEO. Along with speaking and writing on the subjects of design and senior living, she has been featured on TODAY in AMERICA with Terry Bradshaw for her expertise in senior living design. She believes that we are living in a transformational age of technology, that will change senior living for the better, just as the internet changed how we connect with others. --This text refers to the Paperback edition.

This is a truly informative and engaging read. It will introduce you to the amazing technology that is available, or on the horizon, to make our senior years comfortable and more productive. The author is so knowledgeable and able to inform in a captivating manner. It is a must read.

Good book. Good Price.

Thought provoking book. The future of Senior Living will change and Lisa Cini captures it well. This is a well researched book and should be read by all in the industry or considering entering the industry.

Very insightful and thought provoking. Rich with personal stories. Forward thinking with. Positive outlook towards the future and informative about the present. Must read.

Enjoyable!!

Lisa is clearly a forward and creative thinker. this book includes a chapter on induction Hearing Loop technology. This technology not only makes venues ADA compliant but is highly praised by hard of hearing consumers the world over. Hearing loops help users of hearing aids hear in places where hearing devices alone are unable to deliver. Where loops are integrated with existing PA systems they allow users of hearing aids to hear clearly without background noise. Lisa apparently not only wants the venues she serves to be functional and look good " she wants everyone to hear!
