Gordon Brown was a Professor of Paralegal Studies at North Shore Community College in Danvers, Massachusetts and is now retired. Scott Myers has a J.D. from Rutgers Law School and an M.A. from Rutgers Graduate School. He has been the Director of Paralegal Studies at Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. for the past 22 years, administering the program while teaching a variety of courses, including Wills, Trusts, and Estates, Introduction to Law, Legal Research and Writing, and Business Law. The program earned American Bar Association approval in 1988, and has maintained this approval since that date. Scott Myers is also a sole practitioner of law, with his current practice limited to wills and estate planning.

The book has provided much of the information needed however, it is a little disorganized. The author will bring up a topic and say we will cover that several chapter down the road. I don't find that very organized. But overall the information provided is a good overall supply. Anything specific to my state my professor covers.

Very good book for the topic, anyone could use it to help them with their own estate plan.

Great book/class! Awesome professor.

This is a great beginning book on wills and trusts and estates. I enjoyed reading it. This combined with my instructor made a great law course in the paralegal studies program.

Well-written and informative. Great information on a national level. Obviously, state-specific information would be separate from this text and would be available from your state statutes.

This was a lot of work for me with this book. I received it in great condition. I am not reselling it. I am keeping my books for future references.

For the over $70 that I paid for this book I was not expecting it to be in such poor condition. It has drink stains on large portions of pages. I have purchased numerous used textbooks, but this one was by far in the worst condition.

this is for college. I havent used it yet, but i am sure it will be very useful. If I pass the class, I will give it a good mark
