

The book was found

The US Army's First, Last, And Only All-Black Rangers: The 2d Ranger Infantry Company (Airborne) In The Korean War, 1950-1951

Synopsis

The 2d Ranger Infantry Company (Airborne) was the first and only all-black Ranger unit in the history of the United States Army. Its ten-month lifespan included selection, training, and seven months of combat deployment in Korea, after which the unit was deactivated. Edward Posey's magnificent new study, now available in paperback, is the first complete history of this elite, all-volunteer unit, whose members were drawn from the 3rd Battalion of the 505th Airborne Infantry Regiment and the 80th Airborne Anti-Aircraft Battalion. After experiencing the normal travails of boot camp at Fort Benning, which segregation and racism only made worse, the all-black Rangers set out to join the Korean War in late 1950. On January 7, 1951, the Rangers found themselves defending a critical railroad running through Tanyang Pass, which Communist guerillas tried to infiltrate. The nighttime action triggered the Rangers' inaugural combat, which ended with the recommendation for a Bronze Star for gallantry for a Ranger sergeant. Additional combats with the North Korean and Communist Chinese forces erupted near Majori-ri and Chechon. But the event that propelled the 2d Rangers into the record books was their airborne assault near Munsan-Ni on March 23, 1951—the first in Ranger history. Once on the ground, Posey and his comrades attacked and captured Hill 151. The fighting—often conducted at very close quarters, and some of it with the bayonet and rifle butt—demonstrated the courage of these tough African American soldiers. Heavy fighting marked their months at the front, including a magnificent attack and defense of Hill 581 that May. Throughout their deployment in Korea, the 2d Rangers served with honor and achieved an outstanding combat record. Posey's long overdue The US Army's First, Last, and Only All-Black Rangers: The 2d Ranger Infantry Company (Airborne) in the Korean War, 1950-1951 (written with the help of other Rangers) is based upon the firsthand experiences of many members of the unit, official records, interviews with survivors, and other archival material. Stitched together, this information offers a rich and worthy addition to the growing literature on the Korean War by explaining the obstacles these patriotic African Americans faced, their sacrifices, and their courageous actions on the far side of the world. Nearly sixty years have passed since the Korean War slipped into the realm of history. Now, the world will finally learn the true story of the United States Army's first, last, and only all-black Ranger unit.

About the Author: Master Sergeant (Ret) Edward L. Posey joined the US Army in 1947. After serving with Company L, 3rd Battalion, 505th Airborne Infantry Regiment, he volunteered for airborne training with the Rangers in 1950 and served with distinction in the Korean War (where he was wounded). Sergeant Posey retired from the service in 1969. In 2002, he was inducted into the Ranger Hall of Fame for his dedication to duty and distinguished military career.

Book Information

Paperback: 260 pages

Publisher: Savas Beatie; Reprint edition (January 24, 2011)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1611210771

ISBN-13: 978-1611210774

Product Dimensions: 5.9 x 0.8 x 8.9 inches

Shipping Weight: 1 pounds (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 4.8 out of 5 stars 19 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #1,058,413 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #26 in Books > History > Military > Korean War > Personal Narratives #81 in Books > History > Military > Korean War > Campaigns #253 in Books > History > Military > Regiments

Customer Reviews

FINALIST, 2009, ARMY HISTORICAL FOUNDATION DISTINGUISHED BOOK AWARDS labor of love by surviving members of this unit in the Korean War, an all-volunteer unit that came together when President Truman was putting an end to the segregated military. Told in the first person and not very polished, this is still a record of a transitional time that tested all concerned. Many readers will appreciate this addition to Korean War studies. (Library Journal) Posey's vivid recollections of the heroism and dignity with which the Buffalo Rangers faced their enemies both foreign and domestic is indeed a marvelous read. More important still it gives long-overdue credit to the valor and sacrifice demonstrated by African-American warriors in American military history. (The Washington Times, Ranger and Special Operations historian Col. Michael Haas, USAF, ret.) There is a growing interest in the role of the African American Soldier in our history, from the time of the Revolution to Iraq. Documentaries, like our recent Emmy award winning special on African Americans at D-Day, prove the point. The US Army's First, Last, and Only All-Black Rangers adds a fascinating personal note to this on going epic. Posey's story is important because it says so much about our history. It's destined to become an essential part of our understanding of the role black citizens have played in defending and defining our country. (Charlie Maday, Senior Vice President, Military History Channel) Friendship, bravery, and compassion, these American soldiers had it all. The passionate description of bravery, patriotism, and pride gives the reader insight into the men who changed the armed services forever. I found myself wanting to cheer for them and cry with them, and beaming with pride for all they were able to accomplish. These men proved they were the best. (Pamela Gentry, Washington Bureau Chief, BET News)â | a remarkable account, told from the inside out, a great bookâ | (Book Bit for WTBF AM/FM) --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Master Sergeant (Ret) Edward L. Posey joined the US Army in 1947. After serving with Company L, 3rd Battalion, 505th Airborne Infantry Regiment, he volunteered for airborne training with the Rangers in 1950 and served with distinction in the Korean War (where he was wounded). Sergeant Posey retired from the service in 1969. In 2002, he was inducted in the Ranger Hall of Fame for his dedication to duty and distinguished military career.

My father, who died in 2007, was discussed in the book. His name is James E. Freeman, Sr. (referred to as Freeman in the book). He was part of the first and only black paratrooper-rangers unit to go to Korea. I'm extremely proud of his sacrifice and his comrades sacrifices to our country. The book is well written. In the early 1990s, my husband and I took my parents to Fort Benning, GA to visit and on one of the plaques, there was detail of a particular battle in which he and his troops fought. That was the first time I saw tears in my father's eyes. He said one of his men died in his arms. The book is excellent for anyone who loves history.

The provided an vivid account of how my uncle lost his life in the Korean War. I really was mesmerized while reading this book about subject matter which has not really been of interest to me. Couldn't put it down!

Very good read

Very good read, especially if you have served in South Korea

This book needs to be shared with all history students, students of military history and anyone who has an interest in civil rights. This black unit of American patriots were shunned and sent to the front lines where whites didn't want to serve, but were victorious and not recognized for their bravery and love of country. Very interesting book worth the read.

I enjoyed re-living the past

This book gives insight of Black soldiers, who participated in special operations in combat. Over the years, our participation in special operations have not been captured in any books or documentaries. I strongly recommend the book to those, who are interested in reading about our heroes of the Vietnam War.

This book arrived in excellent condition. I am very pleased. It's for my Dad.

Download to continue reading...

US Army's First, Last, and Only All-Black Rangers: The 2nd Ranger Infantry Company (Airborne) in the Korean War, 1950-1951 The US Army's First, Last, and Only All-Black Rangers: The 2d Ranger Infantry Company (Airborne) in the Korean War, 1950-1951 Easy Korean Cookbook: 50 Unique and Authentic Korean Recipes (Korean Cookbook, Korean Recipes, Korean Food, Korean Cooking, Easy Korean Cookbook, Easy Korean Recipes, Easy Korean Cooking Book 1) Korean: Korean Recipes - The Very Best Korean Cookbook (Korean recipes, Korean cookbook, Korean cook book, Korean recipe, Korean recipe book) I Love My Dad (korean childrens books, korean baby book): korean for kids, korean for children, kids books in korean (Korean English Bilingual Collection) (Korean Edition) I Love to Brush My Teeth (english korean books,korean childrens books ): korean bilingual books , korean kids books,bilingual korean books (English Korean Bilingual Collection) (Korean Edition) I Love My Mom (English Korean, korean childrens books): korean kids books,bilingual korean books, children ESL books (English Korean Bilingual Collection) (Korean Edition) I Love My Dad (English Korean Bilingual books, korean kids books): korean childrens books, english korean books for kids (English Korean Bilingual Collection) (Korean Edition) I Love to Share (english korean bilingual books): korean kids books, korean childrens books, hangul for kids (English Korean Bilingual Colleciont) (Korean Edition) I Love to Share (korean english bilingual books, korean baby book, korean kids book ): korean for kids (Korean Edition) Welcome to Korean Food World: Unlock EVERY Secret of Cooking Through 500 AMAZING Korean Recipes (Korean Cookbook, Korean Cuisine, Korean Cooking Pot, Asian Cuisine...) (Unlock Cooking, Cookbook [#8]) Truman, MacArthur and the Korean War: June 1950-July 1951 The Hidden History of the Korean War, 1950-1951: A Nonconformist History of Our Times Dark Horse Six: A Memoir of the Korean War, 1950-1951 War Paint: The 1st Infantry Division's LRP/Ranger Company in Fierce Combat in Vietnam The Hump: The 1st Battalion, 503rd Airborne Infantry, in the First Major Battle of the Vietnam War (McFarland Health Topics) Fury from the North: North Korean Air Force in the Korean War, 1950-1953 (Asia@War) The War for Korea, 1950-1951: They Came from the North (Modern War Studies (Hardcover)) What's a Commie Ever Done to Black People? A Korean War Memoir of

Fighting in the U.S. Army's Last All Negro Unit Black Tuesday Over Namsi: B-29s vs MiGs - the Forgotten Air Battle of the Korean War, 23 October 1951

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help